Janacek Project Playhouse Contribution Yields $10,300 for CASA of NW Arkansas

Rogers, AR – Janacek Construction partnered with designers and suppliers to design and build an exciting, kid-friendly playhouse for CASA of Northwest Arkansas. The playhouse, called “Forest Escape,” was built like a tree house and was one of seven fun, creative playhouses donated to CASA’s “Project Playhouse” fundraiser. CASA stands for Court Appointed Special Advocates, an organization which provides advocates that speak up for the best interests of abused and neglected children in the court system.

Made from recycled construction site materials, the 103 sq. ft. “Forest Escape” playhouse was built by Janacek Construction and designed by ASID South Central District and had an estimated Value of $8500. It was listed by Kyle Pattillo & Tom Skipper of Lindsey & Associates Real Estate.

Perched on top of actual tree stumps, it featured a rustic log ladder, a “peep” hole in the door, black chalkboard walls and a private reading corner. Inside it came furnished with two sleeping bags, lanterns and floor pillows and a star-studded light blue ceiling. As a special feature, a trap door led to an imaginative “toadstool” seating area below. Faux log siding, tilted windows and a bent roof added charm.

The entire Project Playhouse benefit, which auctioned off six playhouses and sold chances on one more, contributed just over $87,000 toward CASA. Of the six auctioned playhouses, the Forest Escape racked up the highest bid, selling at $10,300 – way over the estimated value of $8500.

“It is a pleasure to be able to use our gifts and abilities to help out such a worthy cause,” said Tim Janacek, president of Janacek Construction of Rogers.

Tim Janacek wishes to thank than those who contributed to make Project Playhouse so successful. Contributing to “Forest Escape” were National Home Center, Lewis & Clark Outfitters, Pittsburg Paints, Interior Fabrics & Design, Faux-N-teriors by Nicole, iSpace, innerplan, PepsiCo, BSW International, LLC, Benchmark, U of A Interior Design Department and ABC Supply of Rogers.
